

Xtraction for SCCM Connector

IT organizations everywhere struggle to measure and communicate metrics around their security posture. Microsoft SCCM reporting alone doesn't deliver the security metrics and details on software updates for Microsoft and third-party products. Xtraction complements Microsoft SCCM and extends your reporting capabilities to third-party patch activity in real-time.

Xtraction lets IT and non-technical staff create and view interactive reports and dashboards, easily pulling data from Microsoft SCCM and other data sources without coding. Gain a consolidated business view of all types of data instantly and visualize the state of your IT security environment for better-informed decisions to protect your users and their systems.

■ Access Fast, User-Centric Reporting and Dashboards

Immediate access to performance data—combined with meaningful business values such as operational impact data—reduces time to action. Because Xtraction targets a user's role, anyone can create reports or business dashboards specific to their role or target audience in minutes. The solution reduces the dependency on specialized staff and increases user productivity. Xtraction includes alerts on operational triggers or events when something occurs that you need to know about.

■ Intuitive Interface

An easy-to-use interface enables anyone to create reports by drag-and-drop or point-and-click actions. Users simply select the Ivanti data source and other data source and the desired output format for a dashboard view that suits the intended audience, and Xtraction does the rest. View the information on iPads, a wallboard, or from a web browser so you can provide up-to-the minute data—anywhere, anytime.

■ Connect Data Silos

Unify and cross-reference data from disparate sources in a single view to provide a level of analysis not available from standard Microsoft SCCM reports. Gain greater visibility of your data to better understand your security posture and make informed decisions about protecting your IT environment.

■ Visualize Data Your Way

Monitor critical information in real-time through an auto-refresh function. Alternatively, visualize point-in-time data on dashboards in various formats such as pie, bar, or line charts, or export to popular file formats.

■ Schedule Report Delivery

Build information-rich reports and schedule report delivery at a time that suits you—daily, weekly, or monthly—you decide. What's more, you can get them delivered to your email inbox.

■ Drill Down for Detail

Xtraction doesn't stop at flat dashboard views. Users can drill down and filter results to focus on points of interest to create specific views of security data for different audiences.

■ Data Access without Risk

Role-based access ensures you maintain secure control over who sees your business data. Xtraction includes integrated authentication with Active Directory for secure access that doesn't impact user productivity.

■ Rapid Implementation Using Pre-defined Data Sources

We've done the heavy lifting so you don't have to. Xtraction installs quickly and can be extended to more than 50 pre-defined data models for enterprise applications as well as popular relational databases. Contact us for a complete list.

■ Extend the Value of Ivanti Patch for SCCM

Xtraction complements Microsoft SCCM reports and offers incremental reporting capabilities beyond those already available to Ivanti customers. It helps you improve risk-assessment accuracy and speed of response to drive decisions, demonstrate financial impact, and reduce your security risk. Anyone can pull the summary reports they need, reducing the burden on shared IT resources. Here are a few use-case examples of the incremental value Xtraction offers:

- Analyze time-to-patch from vendor release date
- Show software update metrics for Microsoft and third-party products
- Monitor compliance level in real-time
- Display security metrics and software updates in a network operations center (NOC)

For more information, please visit:

www.ivanti.com/xtraction

www.ivanti.com

1.800.982.2130

sales@ivanti.com