

7 Reasons

Why You Need to Understand Your IT Stack Better

Simplification and streamlining of your IT infrastructure needs to start somewhere. Identify potential issues and risks, and optimize your IT operations with a comprehensive understanding of relationships and dependencies between all your assets.

28% of employees wish for a more responsive IT service desk.

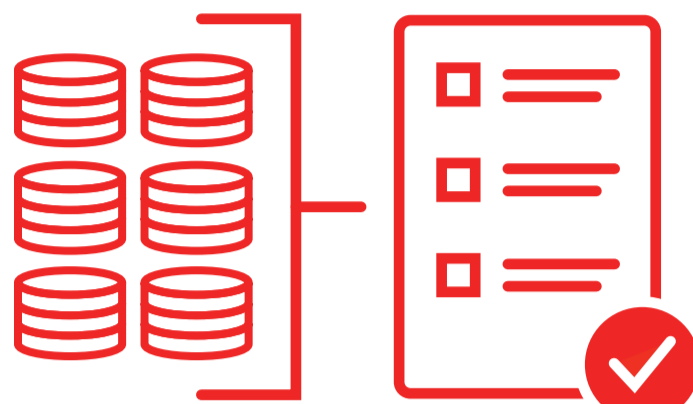

Serve your customers better and prioritize and allocate your resources more efficiently.

Digital Employee Experience Report, 2022

Compliance

is affected the most by siloed asset information

Identify and mitigate potential risks, and alleviate headaches connected with auditing and demonstrating regulatory compliance.

Modern ITAM in the Modern Workplace, EMA, 2022

48% of security professionals say they have low or moderate visibility into all assets on their network.

Encourage IT and security partnership in finding potential vulnerabilities and improving your organization's security posture.

Press Reset: A 2023 Cybersecurity Status Report

Each user suffers on average 3.67 endpoint issues per day.

Optimize resources allocation and alleviate potential capacity restraints to meet changing business needs.

Evolving Requirements for Digital Experience Management \(DEX\), EMA, 2022

32% of IT professionals think that their cloud spend is being wasted.

Identify and prioritize opportunities for cost savings, optimization and investments in modern technologies.

Modern ITAM in the Modern Workplace, EMA, 2022

90% of IT teams manage non-IT assets

Identify opportunities for innovation and integration of modern technologies and systems and adapt quickly and easily to changing business needs and conditions.

Modern ITAM in the Modern Workplace, EMA, 2022

Collaboration

is a priority for 29% of IT professionals.

Break down silos and improve collaboration within your IT team and across different departments.

Digital Employee Experience Report, 2022

In-depth understanding of your entire tech stack benefits your security, service delivery and digital transformation efforts.

Ready to accelerate and simplify your IT estate?

Get started here